

LP Police Introduces Fast Access to Credit Header Phone Data and Unlimited Person Search for Law Enforcement, Police Departments and Government Agencies

LP Police allows investigators to connect to current and historical data in real time, which allows the law enforcement community to conduct investigations easier and faster. Police departments can quickly access reliable data, actionable intelligence, accurate data feeds and easy-to-use tools that are critical for solving complex investigations while minimizing costs.

Boston, Massachusetts (PRWEB) March 06, 2014 -- LP Police, America's #1 person, cell phone search and investigative database for government and law enforcement features the latest credit header phone data and has developed an entirely new design and online user experience, along with the addition of the latest data containing billions of records.

Police, law enforcement and government agencies (federal, state and local) can access gun permits, licenses, relatives, criminal records and more instantly.

LP Police can uncover hidden relationships and persons of interest by employing the latest data retrieval technologies and link analysis software for locating individuals, assets and relationships quickly and easily.

A completely redesigned and easy-to-use interface sets the standard for fast and accurate searches and reports.

All of the searches have been restructured to provide users with the most sought after information. Searches include a broad range of categories, comprised of over 40+ searches law enforcement professionals are looking for. A new, all-inclusive report now contains over two dozen data points on a subject, so all of the information is in one place. Access gun permits, hunting licenses, priors and more. LP Police helps to make investigations safer!

Our customers say it best:

“We recently started using LP Police and been extremely happy with the amount of current available information they have provided,” said Police Sargent J.H.

LP Police is committed to constant improvement and innovation. An ongoing program of law enforcement focus groups has been put in place to perfect a user's experience. Subscribers can now search all of the historical and current records to ensure the fastest and most accurate information every time.

Police and government agencies can benefit from superior data and fast data access when it counts. Quick Tip sections on the top of every page, coupled with VIP support, assist investigators through every step of a search.

Homeland Security, police departments, drug task-forces, constables, sheriffs, and US Marshals will uncover persons of interest with ease.

Find relatives, neighbors, associates, and common residency instantly with the latest link analysis tools. Once a person of interest is identified, the data is organized and accessible. Because relationships are often vital to solving a case, investigators may need to dig deeper and find a subject's 3rd and 4th degree. LP Police quickly provides all the investigative pieces needed to solve more cases.
