

Going for Gold -- Pro- Link GLOBAL, Inc Adds Global Mobility Specialist (GMS™) to Training for Team

Pro-Link GLOBAL adds two new Global Mobility Specialists (GMS™) to its company roster.

Bradenton, FL (PRWEB) October 19, 2009 -- Pro-Link GLOBAL, Inc., a boutique Global Corporate Immigration firm, is pleased to announce that two employees recently completed their Global Mobility Specialist (GMS)™ certification.

Christen Gause and Ann Merritt both received their GMS™ designation following completion of the three required training modules preceding the ERC Global Workforce Symposium in Chicago last week. The training covered applied expatriate policy development, strategies and tactics for global workforce mobility and the intercultural challenge of doing business globally.

GMS™ recognizes the recipient has completed the instruction regarding the ever-evolving field of global mobility and related services. Pro-Link GLOBAL recognizes that in order to provide top notch service to our customers, our employees need understand issues and constraints that exist in the mobility process, allowing them to become partners in solving problems, meeting challenges and delivering excellent service.

GMS™ has become a globally recognized designation among HR practitioners in the private and public sectors, among mobility service providers, and in the international real estate, tax and immigration field. As noted by The Worldwide ERC, "When you invest in the GMS™ credential, you become part of a global over 2,400 GMS™ designees across 45 countries."

Christen Gause is a Business Immigration Specialist and manages all document procurement services such as translations, legalizations and Apostilles as well as business visa processes. She also researches and qualifies prospective Keiretsu Global Network Members (KGNMs) in host locations.

As Client Services Manager, Ann Merritt is responsible for ensuring that Pro-Link GLOBAL's service level expectations are being met or exceeded both internally and externally. Ann also works closely with our qualified KGNMs.
